HAVE PURCHASED MANGANESE CLAIMS

Jerome B. Frank and W. O. Manson, the former a Colorado mining man and the latter of San Francisco, were in Ukiah several days this week. They represent a company that has purchased the manganese deposits between Redwood and Potter valleys and the two gentlemen have been making arrangements preparatory to operating the property.

It is stated that satisfactory concessions have been obtained from the railroad companies that will enable the ore to be shipped to Philadelphia, where it is to be used in the manufacture of steel. The ore is of low grade and a reduced rate is necessary to make its shipment profitable.

To reach the deposits a road about six miles long will have to be built. The company thinks the county should assist in building this road in view of the benefit that will result to the community at large and it is probable the supervisors will be asked to bear a portion of the expense. It is expected that 100 men and fifty or sixty teams will be employed when operations are begun. This will mean that at least $5,000 or $6,000 per month will be distributed in cash for salary, etc., hence would be quite an item in the prosperity of this part of the county.

We are informed that George W. Gracy is responsible for interesting the parties in the property.

CITY TRUSTEES' REGULAR MEETING

The board of city trustees met in regular monthly session last Monday and transacted the usual routine business.

All applications for liquor licenses were laid over, as was also the ordinance fixing water rates for the coming year.

An ordinance prohibiting the dumping of refuse and garbage within the city limits was passed.

Ordinance No. 128, establishing a public library, was passed by a unanimous vote.

Clerk and city attorney were ordered to prepare an election proclamation.

Plans of Fred Jasper for the repair of Orr creek bridge were adopted and filed.

City attorney was directed to prepare an ordinance under which the laying of sidewalks can be compelled if present ordinance is not adequate.

Doctors A. L. Gibson and J. S. Hogshead were appointed members of the Board of Health to take the places of Doctors E. G. Case and W. N. Moore.

Calpella Wants Depot

L. B. Frasier, President of the Viticultural association, went to San Francisco this week to see the officials of the C. and N. Ry. company about erecting a depot building at Calpella. Mr. Frasier is opening up a tract of land at Calpella, which is going to make that place an important center in the near future.

Fairbanks Makes Fight For Healey

Supervisors Have Warm Session Over Damage Suit Against Bridge Company

The board of supervisors had the warmest session this week that has ever occurred in the history of Mendocino county. It all came about over the suit to be instituted by the District Attorney against Healey, Tibbits & Co., for damages on account of the repair of the Eel river bridge. Supervisor Fairbanks, Healey's man Friday, was cocked and primed and made a gallant and successful fight for the bridge company that has gotten rich off Mendocino county. For two days and one night there were stormy sessions. Fairbanks came to bat every time for Mr. Healey and blocked every effort made to assist the county in conducting the case. It was exceedingly torrid in the board room when District Attorney Duncan read the riot act to Mr. Fairbanks. The scene became more intensely dramatic when Chairman Lane walked around in front of the corpulent gentleman rfom the Third district and told him he wasn't telling the truth. Everybody expected a "scrap," but Gus took his medicine like a little man and oppressive silence reigned supreme.

Briefly, the history of the case is as follows: In 1904, Healey, Tibbits & Co. got the contract for repairing the Eel river bridge for $12,000. In less than six months the bridge was ready to fall into the river and was condemned as unsafe for travel. The county had to repair the bridge again at a cost of over $4000 by reason of Healey, Tibbits & Co's. poor work.

District Attorney Duncan thought that the bridge company should reimburse the county to the extent of the repairs made necessary by Healey's poor job and asked for authority to begin suit against the bridge company. The suit was finally ordered, after a number of delays at the request of Mr. Fairbanks. At the February meeting, the District Attorney asked the board for assistant counsel, as Mr. Healey had boasted that he would have five of the best San Francisco lawyers to fight the case. Mr. Fairbanks objected to the matter at that time as he wished to consider it. It was noticed, however, that at that meeting Mr. Healey came up from the city on the night train and held a number of confidential interviews with his man Friday until midnight and then returned to the city next day.

At this week's meeting, Mr. Duncan again asked the board on behalf of the taxpayers of the whole county to employ assistant counsel as it was a matter of much importance to the taxpayers and whatever damages were secured it would be just like the county finding that much money. So he asked that J. E. Pemberton be employed as assistant counsel. Mr. Pemberton was called and said he would assist for $100. If the case went to the Appellate court he would ask $100 additional, and if the county was successful in the suit he would ask for $250 more. This was unsatisfactory to Mr. Fairbanks, so Mr. Pemberton made an offer for $100 attorney's fees and fifteen per cent of the amount of damages collected. Mr. Fairbanks still objected on the ground that he didn't want the county to be out any money in case the suit was lost. Mr. Pemberton then agreed to take the case on a straight contingent fee of twenty per cent of the amount collected, and if the county lost he would ask nothing. Fairbanks again retreated to another hole and objected and wanted to give twenty-five per cent on all damages over $2500. As Mr. Fairbanks would be the principal witness as to the amount of damages, no lawyer would take the case on such a ridiculous proposition.

A plain proposition was then made that the board hire Mr. Pemberton and pay him what they thought his services were worth. Fairbanks, being "treed," got red in the face and shouted it was an attempt to do Democratic politics, that Mr. Pemberton had been injected into the matter without consulting him. Mr. Duncan said he would be willing to take John L. McNab, the chairman of the Republican county central committee, for an assistant on any terms the board might agree on. Gus was in his last trench and asked for further time to consider. An adjournment was taken for a few hours to enable Fairbanks to consult with his private attorneys.

In the meantime Chairman Lane and Supervisor Lawson became interested in behalf of the taxpayers and when the board reconvened, Mr. Lane made a motion that the board hire some assistant counsel without naming any one. Mr. Lawson seconded the motion and Fairbanks tried to offer some kind of an amendment, but Lane declared it out of order, whereupon the member from the Third district got his voice keyed up to high C and beat the air frantically with his arms and told Chairman Lane that he was trying to do politics. Mr. Lane arose, vacated his seat and strode around to Fairbanks desk, leaned over an shook his finger in his face and said: "You know that what you state is false. I will not allow any man to impugn my motives without resenting it." The Little Giant glared at the little tortoise, who immediately subsided. Lane then demanded a roll call upon his motion in order to test the question whether Fairbanks was willing to employ assistant council to the District Attorney under any circumstances. Fairbanks was forced into his last ditch and voted "No," and his Siamese twin chimed in and the motion was lost, as it takes four votes to hire additional counsel.

Mr. Fairbanks then stated he would have a resolution on the matter to offer before the board adjourned, but although the board remained in session all of the next day and late that night not a whisper was heard from Mr. Healey's representative from the third district.

District Attorney Duncan will go ahead with the suit single handed and press it to a conclusion unless Mr. Fairbanks has the motion to bring suit rescinded at the next meeting.

Mr. Weldon a Candidate

Mayor T. J. Weldon, of Ukiah, announces his candidacy for District Attorney in this issue, subject to the decision of the Democratic county convention. Jack, as he is familiarly known, needs no introduction to the voters of Mendocino county, having been a resident of the county for nineteen years. He has filled many positions of trust. He was under sheriff a number of years under both Doc Standley and J. H. Smith. While performing the duties of under sheriff he studied law and was admitted to the bar in 1900, and then began the practice of his profession, forming a partnership with W. D. L. Held. He has gained quite a reputation as a criminal lawyer and has built up a lucrative practice. Two years ago at the city election Mr. Weldon was elected Mayor of Ukiah and still holds that position. From his broad acquaintance and affable manner Jack should make a very strong candidate. If nominated he will make a strong race in the fall.

Making Improvements

Charlton & Son have purchased the building and lot where his blacksmith shop is located from B. F. Fox for $5000. Mr. Charlton is now making some good improvements by adding to the building on the north side. He will change his office and take out the old partition, thus giving more room. He will install a planer, a band saw and other machinery and when the Snow Mountain Power company transmits the "juice" to Ukiah, Tom will be able to make wagons while you wait.

Order of Pendo

Last Monday night the Order of Pendo took in twenty-two new candidates, bringing the membership up to over forty. There are more initiations to follow at the next regular meeting. The new lodge has decided to meet in Sanford's hall on the first and third Mondays of each month until further notice. Next Monday evening a free entertainment will be given in Marks' opera house under the auspices of the order, when one of the supreme officers will lecture on the benefits of Pendo.

In the Running

M. A. Singleton, the popular Willits liveryman, had business in Ukiah last Saturday. Mike has retired from the stage and is now an active candidate for the Democratic nomination for Sheriff. He is an all round good fellow, makes friends readily and retains them and would make a strong candidate for the position he seeks. The party might go farther and do worse.

BIG POWER COMPANY INCREASES CAPITAL

The Eel River Power & Irrigation Company have reorganized and reincorporated under the name of Snow Mountain Water and Power Company. The enterprise has developed and enlarged to such an extent since its inception that it became necessary to very much enlarge the capital stock. The new company is capitalized for $5,000,000 and has filed its articles of incorporation. All of the stockholders of the old company are stockholders in the new company and in addition a number of other parties have become interested with them. Among these is Ex-Senator Charles N. Felton, Timothy Hopkins, and W. S. Graham, United States Surveyor General. Senator Felton is very largely interested in the new enterprise and is the president of the new company.

It is the intention of the company to hurry the plant to completion as fast as possible and it expects this summer to complete the lower dam near John Day's, complete the tunnel, put up the power house and install machinery for the developement of not less than 5000 or 6000 horse power and erect and equip the pole lines. The company expects to be in position to deliver the electric current to the city plant in Ukiah this fall in accordance with negotiations heretofore had with the city. Lines for the delivery of current at other places will also be pushed to completion as rapidly as possible. Work on the upper dam will be begun as soon as the water in the river gets low enough to permit it. It will take, however, about two years to complete the dam as it will be a very large one. It is the purpose of the company to erect at some convenient place on its line a large emergency plant from which current can be transmitted to any part of the system when completed. This will insure a constant supply of electricity even should an accident occur to any part of the water power.

MRS. SUSAN M'NAB PASSES AWAY

Mrs. Susan P. McNab, mother of John L. McNab, died this morning at 9 o'clock at the home ranch this side of Largo.

Mrs. McNab was stricken with paralysis about a week ago and struggled along until death came this morning.

Mrs. McNab had lived in this county for nearly forty years. She was over 80 years old at the time of her death.

She leaves five children, James, Gavin, Charles, Arthur and John L. The interment will be at the ranch.

Dr. Rossi Will Come to Ukiah

Dr. P. O. Rossi has written a letter to the viticultural association that he will come to Ukiah on Saturday, March 17th, and deliver an address before the association on grape culture. President Frasier has therefore called a meeting of the association and the public generally at the court house on Saturday at 2 p. m., March 17th. Turn out and hear Dr. Rossi.

VITICULTURAL ASSOCIATION

Grape Growers Meet and Form Permanent Organization

Last Saturday afternoon seventy-five farmers who are interested in grape culture assembled at the court house to effect an organization for mutual benefit and protection. The meeting was called to order by Senator Sanford, who stated the objects of the meeting. The following permanent officers were then elected: President, L. B. Frasier; Vice President, W. A. Ford; Secretary, W. O. White; Treasurer, Leslie Crawford. A committee composed of J. B. Sanford, J. R. Banks, Marvin Luce was appointed to select a name for the organization and to get up a set of by-laws. The committee made a report in a few minutes as to the name which was as follows: "The Viticultural Association of Mendocino County."

Resolutions were adopted extending thanks to P. C. Rossi, Col. A. V. LaMotte, and the California Northwestern Railway for courtesies extended. The meeting was addressed by L. Finne, J. R. Banks and J. A. Cummiskey. The address of Mr. Cummiskey was along practical lines and explained in detail how to plant and cultivate the cuttings. His remarks were highly appreciated as he has been in the grape business for ten years and has made a success of it.

A paper was passed to get the list of grape growers present and the acreage of each, which was as follows:

J. A. Ford, acres	5
F. M. Cunningham	20
C. Luce	2
M. A. Thomas	1
F. M. Seward	4
Louis Hildreth	14
L. Finne	40
M. F. Todd	12
L. E. Crawford	12
Zach Bartlett	15
Bartlett Bros	20
W. F. Wilcox	10
Lee Rony	2
Mrs. A. Gambrel	10
M. Luce	11

F. O. Scott	7
E. C. Rodwick	10
J. A. Cummiskey	50
T. J. Fine	8
F. Giorno	10
Total	293

A membership roll was then proposed, which was signed by the above named growers and some fifteen others who are intersted in seeing the industry prosper here. Taken all in all the meeting was a most enthusiastic and successful one. Every one was interested and anxious to learn something of the new industry which means so much for the future prosperity of Mendocino county. An effort will be made to secure some one from the Asti colony to give an address in this city in the near future upon this all absorbing topic. The convention adjourned at the call of the chairman.

Among the prominent citizens from the lower end of the county that attended the viticultural association last Saturday was J. A. Cummiskey, who has over fifty acres planted in grapes all of which is yielding well. Mr. Cummiskey's address to the farmers was practical and to the point.

Are You Registered?

Are you registered for the approaching city election? According to the law, voters residing in municipalites in which elections will be held in April whose names appear on the last great register will not have to register again in order to vote at the city election. But should a voter have changed his residence from an outside precinct into the city, it will be necessary for him to register in order to vote at the city election.

Every voter must register this year in order to vote at the county election this fall.

NEWSY ITEMS FROM WILLITS

Willits, March 6th.—The proposition of reducing the area of the town of Willits is being discussed of late. Many people think a municipality three miles square is plenty large enough for a town situated as our berg is. Our town is considerably larger than the district of Columbia.

Cy Cole has returnned from an extended trip to southern California.

Pressley McPeak has purchased the interest of his partner, W. J. Mitchell, in the blacksmith business and will continue the business at the old stand. Mr. Mitchell will take a vacation and return to work in the spring when business picks up.

J. F. Barbee, the popular superintendent of schools, paid the schools of this vicinity a visit last week. J. F. is a candidate for clerk and is strengthening his fences. It may be that he will have a Willits man to oppose him in the field as a young Republican here is thinking of running Hale a heat in the primaries.

C. L. Taylor and J. H. Stewart took charge of the Hotel Buckner bar last week.

The coming city election has begun to bring out a swarm of candidates. There will be contests on every office excepting treasurer. Sweet William has a dead mortal cinch on that.

There was born on February 26, to the wife of S. B. Campbell, a daughter.

Mrs. Alex Bailey, of Ukiah, has been here on a visit to relatives.

Geo. P. James is over from Elk on a visit to relatives and friends.

The owners of the local telephone company had a meeting last week and discussed the proposition of extending the system.

Abbott Houx met with a serious accident last Wednesday. He was carrying a large cross cut saw on his shoulder and tripped and fell, the saw cutting him across the neck and severing the temporal artery. The wound might have proved fatal but for the prompt treatment of Dr. Kennedy, who was notified in time to stop the flow of blood. As it was the injured man was very weak from the loss of blood and had a very close call.

M. A. Singleton, the local aspirant for sheriff, paid Ukiah a visit last Saturday. Mike thinks he has a cinch on the nomination.

It seems that George Bauer and Lou English are going to have a law suit over their business matters.

More hogs are still being driven out of the valley as fast as they are brought in from the hills. A large band was brought in from Long ridge last week. Ed Gibson and Dan English took a drove to Ukiah and W. S. VanDyke took a number to the Willits market.

The earthquake last week scared some of our people quite badly. It was the severest shock felt here for some time.

Our shools are going along smoothly and much interest is being manifested. The 07 class has adopted the cedar as their class tree. Prof. Everett and the boys have planted about 100 walnut trees which will be a good thing in the future.

One day last week several of our young people received quite a scare while crossing the stream near the Waldo place. They were in a surrey and got caught in the quick sand, but were rescued by Lou English, who always happens along just at the proper time to act the hero. The young people were Winnie and Edna Jamison, Rete Marshall and Obet Perry.

Red, White, Green Seas.

The colors of pure ocean water and the varying shades observed where impurities are met with are diversified by the coloring effects of the enormous multitudes of various forms of organized life which sometimes mask the natural color of the surface of the sea and tinge extensive areas with remarkable colors. Red appears to be most frequently met with. In the southern parts of the Red sea and in the Arabian gulf large areas are colored blood red by microscopic animalculae, and in the Indian ocean similar forms of life cause, in addition to red, milk white or yellow spots of great extent, the appearance of which is frequently alarming to the ignorant sailor. On the Guinea coast ships sometimes appear to float in milk. Extensive red streaks are also known to occur in the south Atlantic and south Pacific, which are caused by beds of small red crustacea. The "Vermilion sea" of California owes its brilliant color to infusoria. Areas colored green have been noted, especially in the arctic regions which are due to myriads of diatoms, and in some portions of the antarctic seas diatoms of rusty color make the water a dirty brown.

Madison's Mint Julep Bet.

Among the trees at the edge of the lawn on the right hand side of the house as you face the mountains James Madison built an icehouse. This was in 1809, and it was the first icehouse in Orange county, Va. Ice in summer! His servants were incredulous. And he bet his overseer an iced mint julep on the Fourth of July, against which the latter wagered a wild turkey. Of course Madison won the turkey.—Country Life In America.

MIDDLE COAST HAPPENINGS

Mendocino, March 6.—It is generally understood here that Jack Nelson, of Caspar, and Ed Conway, have secured the lease of the Occidental hotel from Mrs. Kate Gorman, who has conducted the famous hostelry for so many years. Jack Nelson was boss of the Caspar mill for years and Ed Conway has worked all over the coast. The boys will certainly do a good business.

F. M. Durst has had to resign his position in the high school on account of ill health. His resignation is generally regretted. Miss R. Hess, of Oakland, a teacher of much ability, takes the position of Mr. Durst.

George McClelland, planer boss at the Caspar mill, has resigned and gone to Willits to accept a similar position.

W. T. Wallace, Jr., has returned from the city, having decided to turn down the offer of the Hammond Lumber company. He thinks Mendocino is all right after all.

A Chicago Alderman Owes His Election to Chamberlain's Cough Remedy

"I can heartily and conscientiously recommend Chamberlian's Cough Remedy for affections of the throat and lungs," says Hon. John Shenick, 220 So. Peoria St., Chicago. "Two years ago during a political campaign. I caught cold after being overheated, which irritated my throat and I was finally compelled to stop, as I could not speak aloud. In my extremity a friend advisedme to use Chamberlian's Cough Remedy. I took two doses that afternoon and could not believe my senses when I found the next morning the inflamation had largely subsided. I took several doses that day, kept right on talking through the campaign, and I thank this medicine that I won my seat in the Council." This remedy is for sale by J. R. Mathews' Pharmacy.

Chas. Drake, a mail carrier at Chapinville, Conn., says "Chamberlian's Pain Balm is the champion of all liniments. The past year I was troubled a great deal with rheumatism in my shoulder. A Showing of NEW SPRING MERCHANDISE the Equal of Any in California

The carpenters will soon be through with the big show window, and then we will begin to show the Ladies' a stock of Dry Goods, Fancy Goods and ready-to-wear garments that will open their eyes.

We are going to show you a stock of merchandise this spring. Its equal will only be found in some of the largest stores in the state. We are going to try to keep the money at home by offering you the best lines in America at prices far below any catalogue house or any store, no matter if it is in Chicago, New York or San Francisco. We have the same facilities of buying as the largest retail houses in the United States.

We are adding to our already large window display a twenty-one foot window, to enable us to show up our great spring stock. We ask you to come and see our goods and prices, and after you do, you still think you can do better in San Francisco or elsewhere, well and good, but you won't think so, some may imagine so. The best way to find out is by comparison. If you buy a dress, waist or a suit in San Francisco or elsewhere, bring it in and compare.

A New Department

We are adding a new department, that has been very much in need in the town. The new department is

Children,s Ready Made-Dresses

and it is going to be the handsomest line in the country. They come from the best makers of Children's Dresses in Now York. You will see some very swell and snappy little garments

At Very Low Prices.

Watch our announcement of their arrival. We expect them in within a few days, they are now three weeks on the way from New York.

HOW THE FOURTH IS CARED FOR

Next Monday a month will have elapsed since the Board of Supervisors at its regular meeting authorized Mr. Barnard to proceed with the repairing of the Big river bridge. Actual work was commenced last week. Six weeks have gone by since the bridge was damaged. The destruction of the bridge made a ferry a necessity; Edward Boyle established one. The average charge for a team is $1.50, although we understand that a concession is made to a person crossing daily or twice a day. The Beacon has contended that work should have begun on the bridge within a few days after the damage was done. In two or three days' time the consent of the several Supervisors could have been obtained had the matter been properly presented and the necessity for action urged and that would have obviated the necessity of waiting two weeks for the regular meeting of the Board. We understand that Mr. Barnard asked some of the members of the board to give their consent to have the work proceed immediately and they did. It was reported here that Supervisor Lawson refused to give his consent. We have been told, however, that Mr. Lawson's consent was not asked until the regular meeting of the board. If Mr. Lawson did refuse, then Mr. Barnard was justified in not commencing work immediately, but there is no reason why he should have waited two weeks after the board had given its consent at a regular meeting before commencing actual work.

Had the ferry been operated for only ten days or two weeks no very serious objection would have been made to the charge asked, but it has been in operation for nearly six weeks now, and it will probably be several weeks more before the bridge is repaired. The law requires that the Board of Supservisors shall fix the ferriage charges, and that the same shall not exceed an annual income of fifteen per cent on the actual cost of construction and maintenance. A member of the Board at its last meeting brought up the matter of fixing the ferry rate but Mr. Barnard objected on the ground that he would have the bridge in condition to take care of the travel in a few days and for that short time it was not necessary. That was nearly a month ago and the present prospect is that the bridge will not be completed for some weeks to come.

Isn't it about time the board acted in this matter?—Beacon.

Pioneer Sherwood Dead

Alfred E. Sherwood, a pioneer of this county, died in Sherwood valley last Wednesday at the age of 83 years. He was born in New York and crossed the plains in '52 to California, and migrated to this county in 1853 and located on the Noyo river where he worked for three months. In the fall of '53 he went over and located in a little valley which became known after that as Sherwood valley. Here he remained until his death last Wednesday. Mr. Sherwood has passed through all the stages of frontier life, ranging from the savage occupation of the forest to the civilized occupation, by white people, of smiling fields, yielding abundant harvests—all within a half century. The interment takes place at Sherwood to-day.

Christian Church Notes

The foreign missionary offering last Sunday was a third larger than that of last year.

The Sunday school is an interesting feature of the church work. The attendance last Sunday was over 130, class seven having the largest number, forty-seven.

The services next Sunday will be somewhat different from the regular order. A special welcome to strangers and those not regular church attendants.

The endeavor society meets at 6:30 and is largely attended, and the meetings are interesting.

Walk by the Dispatch office and see our original relief map of Mendocino county from which the engraving was made to print the maps. It is the only thing of its kind in existence and affords one an opportunity for much study. Every teacher and all others interested in physical geography should make it a point to see the original model map.

Mrs. Alexander McNab, mother of J. L. McNab, suffered a stroke of paralysis last Friday at her home near Largo. At present writing she is gradually improving.

During the first week of March 2.04 inches of rain fell, making a total of 31.95 inches for the season. The rainfall this date last year was 32.31 inches.

Th Ladies' Exchange conducted by th Ladies' Presbyterian Society, will be held at Mrs. Elledge's every Saturday from 10 until 2 o'clock.

The "Ladies' Aid"

There is magic in the season when the springtime draweth near,
A great awakening [as from slumber,
a taking on new life and cheer.
Our "Aid," hath caught the spirit and is moving with the rest,
New President and cabinet are of the very best;
Their zeal hath reached the members,
who are flocking with their dimes,
And she who stays away is quite behind the times.

Much work we're undertaking with our President in the lead,
It is the height of our ambition to be an "Aid," indeed.
We'll plan, and strive, and toil to keep our coffer full,
A thing which we shall surely do if we together pull.
And when our worthy stewards have done their level best,
They'll point to us with pride, and say, "The Aid will do the rest."

We soon shall give a big bazaar, concerts, too, and teas;
We'll bake a thousand angel cakes, a ton of cream we'll freeze;
Of comforters and quilts, we'll surely make our share,
And it wouldn't much surprise me if we held a county fair.
Oh it isn't just like taking out the money from your vest
When the Ladies' Aid gets busy and agrees to pay the rest.

Of course, we're proud of our big church, from pulpit up to spire,
It is the darling of our heart, the crown of our desire,
But when I see the sisters work to raise the cash that lacks,
I sort a-feel the church is built on women's tired backs;
And somehow, I keep thinking when we reach the regions blest,
The men will get the labor and the "Ladies' Aid" the rest.

John Higgins is quite sick at his home near Largo.

S. Brunner has so far improved as to be out on warm sunny days.

John Casey, the man who murdered Ves Morrison, has been held for trial on a murder charge.

A. Rafferty was in town the latter part of last week and attended the meeting of the viticultural association.

Mrs. A. Poage, who has been quite sick, has so far improved as to permit her son Dr. C. A. Poage to return to Colusa.

Mrs. M. Luce and daughter have returned from San Francisco, where they had gone to have the little one's eyes treated by a specialist.

Tony McPeak is here from Folsom on a short vacation. He reports everything progressing smoothly under Warden Yell at the big prison.

J. B. Hoss and son were down from their home at Hearst this week on business. Mr. Hoss reports everything lovely and the goose hanging high on south Eel river.

Vultures and a Dead Tiger.

The vulture is seen at its best when a dead tiger, brought into camp to be skinned, is exposed in the open. Overhead is a cloudless sky, and not a bird to be seen in that great void by the human eye. The tiger's body is thrown from the pad to the ground, and before the skin has been removed there above one and always nearing the earth are the vultures circling, poising like things of air, now a dozen of them, in a few minutes a score or two and then a hundred strong. Then, when the flayed carcass of the tiger is left by those who skinned it, the vultures descend. Down they come like feathered thunder out of the sky, and from east and west and north and south, the very embodiment of power while they whirled aloft and in their quick descent to earth, and now, as they waddle around that carrion beast, misshapen ghouls, whose only apparent strength is that of the ravening jaws which tear and gorge the tiger's flesh, until within the hour naught of that splendid brute remains but a clean picked skeleton.—Sir Edward Bradden's "Thirty Years of Shikar."

A Rank Pessimist.

A Lady Bountiful living in a suburban village met an old man on the road one day and asked after his family, his health, etc. The old man gave a rather gloomy account of things. He had to work all day and every day, and he was growing old and felt the cold and was always tired. He wished he could rest a bit after his long life of labor. He was weary, very weary.

Lady Bountiful reminded him gently that every one had his share of work to do in this world, and that it was all only a preparation of the world to come, where there will be no tears or labor.

The old man shook his head and smiled cynically.

"That may be for the likes of you," he said. "But there'll be work for the likes of me. It will be the same thing there: 'John, clean the sun.' 'John, hang out the moon.' 'John, light the stars.' 'John, stop the wind.' They will find something for me to do, ma'am—you'll see."

A Wonderful Ride.

The most wonderful straightaway ride ever made by man was the gallop of Francis Xavier Aubrey, ci-devant Canadian voyageur and a famous pony express rider, from Santa Fe, N. M., to Independence, Mo., in 1853—800 miles in five days and thirteen hours. In 1852 he had covered the same distance in a little over eight days, and his record was on the wager of $1,000 that he "could do it in an even eight." In the whole distance he did not stop to rest, and he changed horses only with every 100 or 200 miles. He was a stocky French Canadian, light hearted, genial, adventurous and absolutely fearless. For some time he was an overland freighter, and he also made the enormously difficult and dangerous drive of a flock of sheep from New Mexico to California across the deserts of the Colorado. He was killed in Santa Fe.—McClure's Magazine.

Early Autograph Hunters.

A certain Atossa in early Roman days seems to have been the mother of autograph collectors. Cicero had a collection, which must have been a fine one, for he speaks of it with particular pride. The fever, even in those far back days, was contagious. Pliny speaks of Pompeius Secundus, at whose house he had seen autographs of Cicero, Augustus, Virgil and the Gracchi, and his own collection was valued at $15,000 of our money. Then came the inrush of barbarians, and we do not again meet with the collector until the beginning of the sixteenth century, when he reappears in the person of a Bohemian squire, who kept a book to record his exploits in the chase and enriched it with the signatures of his great hunter friends.

When Death Cools His Sting.

There is a curious superstition in Jamaica that if a death occurs in the house all the water in it is poisoned at once and must be thrown away, the reason given being that "death" cools his "sting" after destroying life in the first water he finds, and as no one can tell—death being invisible—what jar he may choose it is safest to throw it all away. Careful people to save trouble even carry all water out of the house immediately before a death is expected.

Already Well Made.

"Miss Deepley does make some of the most inapt quotations," remarked Bragg.

"Yes?" queried Newitt. "What, for instance?"

"Well, last night I remarked that I always avoided political discussion because I didn't want to make a fool of myself, and she said, 'One cannot paint the lily or gild refined gold.'"—Philadelphia Press.

She Paid on the Investment.

"Here," complained the aggrieved father, "I have spent nearly $15,000 on that girl's education, and now she goes and marries a $2,500 a year clerk."

"Well," said the friend of the family, "isn't that all of 15 per cent on your investment? What more do you want?"

Carelessness.

The Young Doctor—Just think, six of my patients recovered this week. The Old Doctor—It's your own fault, my boy. You spend too much time at the club.

Means of Success.

Stern Father—He who sows the wind reaps the whirlwind. Prodigal Son—Well, he raises the wind anyway.

The way of the world is to praise dead saints and persecute living ones.—Howe.

Senator Vest's Eulogy Upon the Dog

Gentlemen of the jury: The best friend a man has in this world may turn against him and become his enemy. His son or daughter that he has reared with loving care may prove ungrateful. Those who are nearest and dearest to us, those whom we trust with our happiness and our good name, may become traitors to their faith. The money that a man has he may lose. It flies away rfom him, perhaps when he needs it most. A man's reputation may be sacrificed in a moment of ill-considered action. The people who are prone to fall on their knees to do us honor when success is with us may be the first to throw the stone of malice when failure settles its cloud upon our heads. The one absolutely unselfish friend that man can have in this selfish world, the one that never deserts him, the one that never proves ungrateful or treacherous, is his dog.

Gentlemen of the jury, a man's dog stands by him in prosperity and in poverty, in health and in sickness. He will sleep on the cold ground, where the wintry winds blow and the snow drives fiercely, if only he may be near his master's side. He will kiss the hand that has no food to offer, he will lick the wounds and sores that come from encounter with the roughness of the world. He guards the sleep of his pauper master as if he were a prince. When all other friends desert he remains. When riches take wings and reputation falls to pieces he is as constant in his love as the sun in its journey through the heavens. If fortune drives the master forth an outcast in the world, friendless and homeless, the faithful dog asks no higher privilege than that of accompanying him to guard against danger, to fight against his enemies, and when the last scene of all comes, and death takes the master in its embrace and his body is laid away in the cold ground, no matter if all other friends pursue their way, there by his graveside will the noble dog be found, his head between his paws, his eyes sad but open in alert watchfulness, faithful and true even to death.

One of the most famous speeches ever made by the late Senator Vest, of Missouri, was made in course of a trial of a man who had wantonly shot a dog belonging to a neighbor. Vest represented the plaintiff, who demanded $200 damages. When Vest finished speaking, the jury, after two minutes deliberation, awarded the plaintiff $500. The full text of the speech is printed above.

Lemmon Lambasts McKinlay

Postmaster Lemmon, of Santa Rosa, and Congressman McKinlay are engaged in a bitter warfare. Lemmon supported McKinlay for congress two years ago, at the same time knowing him to be a "dirty stinking liar" and absolutely unreliable. When McKinlay got back to Washington he played to "get even" on the postmaster. The controversy caused Lemmon to write a letter explaining his side of the case. The result may be the nomination of Lemmon for Congress instead of McKinlay. If Lemmon should win out it will be interesting to watch the acrobatic preformances of those postmaster editors who wish to get up close to the Congressman. The letter is interesting reading as it shows what a lifelong Republican thinks of the man who is supposed to be representing this district in congress, but who in reality is spending his time addressing old maid clubs. Here is the letter. Read it and then make up your mind to vote for Bell next November:

Santa Rosa, Cal., Feb. 26, 1906. Editors of the Mail of Woodland and the Woodland "Democrat": Somebody has sent me copies of your papers of last Saturday in which considerable space is devoted to me, the Santa Rosa postmastership and Congressman McKinlay. I do not feel that I can afford to let these articles pass unanswered.

A recent issue of the San Francisco Examiner declared then, as does the Mail now, that I have been trying to keep McKinlay down for many years. As the Mail puts it, "Lemmon has fought McKinlay in Sonoma county for years, in fact, ever since he was wielding the paint brush in the municipality for his daily bread."

I have never seen D. E. McKinlay wielding a paint brush. It is probable that he was a painter by trade, but the first I remember of him he was running a paint store. Others were wielding the paint brush for him.

The statement of the Examiner and Mail that I have ever tried to injure McKinlay politically or otherwise is without any foundation whatever. In the past sixteen years I have served as a member of the Republican State Executive Committee in more campaigns than any other man in California. As a member of that committee I secured McKinlay his first appointment as a campaign speaker, and he has been on the payroll nearly every campaign since then.

In the McKinley-Hobrat campaign a vacancy occurred in the electoral ticket and I united with the other members of the executive committee of the party in giving the place to "the Sonoma county painter."

In the last state convention McKinlay desired the nomination for attorney-general. As a delegate I did my best to secure him the place.

About two years ago McKinlay came to me in San Francisco and declared his ability to secure the nomination for attorney-general at the convention next autumn. I promised to do what I could for him.

A couple of weeks later we met in the same place and he was then a red-hot candidate for congressman. I was asked to stand in, but told him not to be so changeable. In fact, I made sport of his being an aspirant for some new office every time we met. He became very angry, insisted he was interfering with some of my political plans, and made extravagant statements. He got as good as he gave and soon settled down and seemed more reasonable. I did not oppose McKinlay's ambition personally or in my newspaper, and in due time he was nominated, nobody else desiring the place.

After McKinlay's nomination I made the best fight in my power for him from first to last. That fight was so well made that the candidate's wife came to me repeatedly and thanked me for what I was doing for her husband.

There is one incident in that campaign that I do not think I should ignore. When first a candidate for nomination as attorney-general, McKinlay withdrew his registration from this county, so as to appear to hail from San Francisco. About the time he desired the congressional nomination, he sought membership in a prominent secret society here. Questions were raised as to his residence and he declared repeatedly that he had never registered or voted in the metropolis. He even produced the cancellation card that had been issued to him in this county to prove that the same had never been deposited anywhere and that he had never been a voter of any county than this.

The first week of McKinlay's campaign was in Mendocino and Lake counties. On his return home Sunday morning he came to my house to talk over his campaign plans. Considerable was then being said in opposition papers about his having registered in San Francisco. I inquired of him just how I should treat the matter. He called my attention to having shown me the cancellation card, which he alleged could not be in his possession if he had registered elsewhere. Over and over again he assured me that he had never registered or voted in San Francisco.

Based on McKinlay's statements, I tackled my Democratic contemporary the following day and was promptly bottled politically. That paper responded with the registry number of the candidate in San Francisco, the place from which he registered and the date and particulars of his voting there.

On McKinlay's return the following Sunday I asked for an explanation, when the candidate had the audacity to inform me that I had not understood him—that he had not told me he had not registered or voted in the metropolis. It was then that I told him he was a "dirty stinking liar," that the candidate for office who would mislead the editor of his local paper in that way in a campaign lacked sense and decency. On his undertaking to explain I made him eat his words, and assured him that if he ever undertook to make it appear that he had not told a falsehood in this matter I should take his name out of my paper and fight him to a finish. Only my loyalty to the political principles for which he stood prompted my support of him thereafter, but, as the files of the Republican show, every argument that could be advanced in his behalf appeared therein.

It will be readily understood that, after this occurence, I was not a candidate for any appointment that McKinlay might control. The postmastership was never discussed by us. Many months ago I told the chairman of the congressional committee and two of McKinlay's closest political friends here that I should not ask for another term as postmaster. The same statement was made to every body who asked me about the matter. In the light of this action on my part, what does McKinlay gain by having the Examiner and others of his organs lie about me as they are doing?

As to my treatment of McKinlay during my ownership of the Republican there has never been a line in the paper that was umcomplimentory of him. Personally and through the colums of the paper I did much to advance his interests and nothing to injure him in any way.

To show the standing of McKinlay here, some figures are given from the records of our last election. Roosevelt's plurality in this county was 2,451, and that of McKinlay was only 219. Roosevelt's plurality in this city was 229, while Bell beat McKinlay 134 here. The precinct in which Mrs. McKinlay lives and to which her husband comes occasionally had a Republican majority of four, but Bell carried it by twenty votes. Where McKinlay was best known he received the lightest vote. One would think that a man with such a record would scarcely invite discussion as he, through his organs, has done.

It was not my fault that McKinlay received such a light vote here—the town he had called home more than twenty years. The people knew him and refused to vote for him in spite of all the money that was spent and the work that was done in his behalf.

Allen B. Lemmon.

District Attorney Langdon, of San Francisco, is making himself as famous in California as Folk did himself in Missouri. If Langdon keeps up this good work of enforcing the law he will wake up some bright morning and find himself the Folk to lead the California Democracy out of the wilderness this fall. Folk was circuit attorney of St. Louis and won the Governorship by enforcing the law. From present indications Langdon is likely to follow in Folk's path and land in the Governor's chair at Sacramento.

The people are gradually returning to Democracy. Last Monday Vallejo, which is normally Republican by over 600 votes, elected John J. Madigan mayor by 129 majority. This is simply an index of what the people will do this fall when the time comes to elect a Governor, Congressman and other officials.

The defeat of McKinlay in the Second by Bell is now assured.—Ukiah Dispatch-Democrat.

Say, Sanford, do you want to go another French dinner on that for the same crowd? It's a shame to take your money, though.—Woodland Mail.

Yes, I'll call you, again, for it's a pleasure to see you get a square meal, Mixon! Same crowd, same place; and say, bring algong the dough, for you are going up against it hard this time!

What Live Towns Are Doing

While Ukiah is sleeping a number of other cities are forging to the front as follows:

Loyalton contemplates a bond issue for sewers.

St. Helena has employed an engineer to figure on a municipal water system for the town.

Cloverdale and Lakeport are to have new sewer systems, and Crescent City is figuring on one.

Santa Monica trustees have opened bids for a garbage crematory. The bids ranged from $7,300 to $10,000.

Black Diamond has awarded a contract for a sewer system to the Hutchinson Co., Oakland, for about $6,500.

In Alameda there is a strong movement on the part of the local improvement clubs for the acquisition of a public playground.

Anaheim will hold an election on March 4th to vote on the question of issuing bonds to the amount of $69,000 for the improvement of the municipal water and lighting systems and for the acquisition of a gas plant.

Fresno has awarded a contract for the construction of its new system to the Worswick Company, the amount of the bid being $145,000.

Porterville has rejected an opportunity for acquiring the local water system and make it municipal. The voters will regret it one of these days.

Sebastopol has decided to adopt electricity as its motive power for its new water system and will receive bids for the installation of the necessary machinery on March 6th.

Vacaville by a decisive vote has knocked the knockers and has authorized the issuance of bonds to the amount of $25,000 for a sewer system. This is the third attempt to issue bonds for this purpose.

Redding has purchased the sewer pipe to be used in the construction of its new sewer system and the same cost $7250. The contract calls for about 35,000 feet of pipe. Bids for construction are now being called for.

Thomas S. Lynch announces himself as a candidate for city marshal in this issue of the Dispatch. Mr. Lynch has lived in this community for many years and needs no introduction to the people. He has served as constable of this township for a number of terms and has performed his duties to the satisfaction of all. He aspires to the city marshalship and promises, if elected to enforce the laws without fear or favor. He certainly has the elements of a strong candidate and should poll a large vote.
